We would like to take this opportunity to thank Ed Reynolds for the fine service he has given ATS in producing JATS since 2005. He has served very faithfully and conscientiously in this position. We also want to thank him for the material which he worked on in preparation for this issue. We wish him success in his future endeavors.

This double issue, Volume 20, contains many articles on a variety of topics which we hope will be of interest to our readers. As you can see, the subjects range through the Old Testament, Archaeology, Theology, New Testament, and Church History. All make a contribution to better understanding the Bible and the mission of our Adventist scholars in illuminating God's Word.

Looking to the future we anticipate a second double issue which will come out soon after the new year and look forward to being caught up and back to our regular single issue publishing schedule by Spring 2011. We are pleased to announce that we have most of the articles in hand and they are presently being reviewed and edited.

If you have material which you would like to submit to JATS, please send it to us at: ats86@email.com. If you are interested in reviewing articles which we have received, please let us know. If you have questions or comments, we encourage you to submit those to us or to the individual authors of each article. Email addresses for the authors may be found at the end of each article. We also invite you to utilize our website at: <http://www.atsjats.org>.

We look forward to providing stimulating and thoughtful articles which not only help us probe the depths of knowledge contained in Scripture, but will inspire and motivate all who read them to continue to spread the Good News that God has revealed in His Word.

We solicit your scholarly contributions and your support in making JATS a valuable asset to its readers and to the Adventist Theological Society.
